

WHY YOUR MEDICARE DECISIONS MATTER...

Michael didn't want to review his Medicare Advantage plan.

Michael almost paid $1,100
too much for Medicare coverage.

In the fall of 2016, Michael was simply going to let his Medicare Advantage plan renew. All of his providers were in-network, he hadn't received any outlandish bills, and, in general, he was happy with his coverage. Why would he switch?

However, Michael was about to learn that Medicare Advantage plans can change dramatically year-to-year.

By reviewing the upcoming changes to his plan during Medicare's Open Enrollment Period, Michael learned that his monthly premium was set to increase from $0 to $89 – with no additional healthcare benefits. With this knowledge, Michael switched to a different Medicare Advantage plan with similar coverage and quality measures but no monthly premium — saving him almost $1,100!
